

Ev charging news today

Ev charging news today

In the Electrek Podcast, we discuss the most popular news in the world of sustainable transport and energy. In this week's episode, we discuss Tesla increasing its sale incentives, a potential new EV credit in California, Rivian's new factory gets funded, and more.

Today's episode is sponsored by Huffy Bicycles, a household name in micromobility. For a limited time, use promo code ELECTREKGM at checkout for 30% off the purchase of an Electric Green Machine drifting Trike, and be sure to explore all of Huffy's Black Friday Deals at Huffy.

Today's episode is sponsored by Buzz Bicycles, an omnichannel eBike brand that prioritizes excellent value for its growing base of eBike enthusiasts. For a limited time, use promo code ELECTREK200 at checkout for $200 off the purchase of a Buzz Centris Folding eBike, and be sure to explore all of the company's Black Friday Deals at Buzzbicycles.

Hyundai's latest creation looks like something straight out of an Iron Man movie. Designed to boost strength and reduce injuries, Hyundai and Kia unveiled the new wearable robot tech for the first time. The first of a new series, X-ble Shoulder, is now available for consultation in Korea, with deliveries planned for the first half of 2025. For those in the US and Europe, don't worry. Following its domestic launch, Hyundai plans to introduce its newest innovation overseas.

Head below for other New Green Deals we've found today and, of course, Electrek's best EV buying and leasing deals. Also, check out the new Electrek Tesla Shop for the best deals on Tesla accessories.

The new and improved Genesis GV60 refresh has officially been spotted in transit. With its debut around the corner, the updated GV60 is losing its camouflage. Genesis fine-tuned the new model, giving the already elegant SUV a fresh new look. The latest sighting reveals redesigned wheels and a sleek new color. Check out the video below for a closer look.

The US is on track for another record-breaking year for solar, with over 32 gigawatts (GW) of utility-scale installations expected in 2024, according to the inaugural Solar Market Monitor from the American Clean Power Association (ACP) and S&P Global Commodity Insights.

Will the Range Rover Electric be the most capable electric luxury SUV to hit the market? That's what the company is promising. As final testing wraps up, Range Rover's first EV is already outperforming the iconic gas-powered model. Here's our best look yet at the luxury electric SUV.

We are less than a month away from the official public launch of NIO's new ultra-affordable EV sub-brand, Firefly, but before that happens, we've got our best look at the marque's first model to date. Recent spy images in China captured a camouflaged look at the side profile of the new Firefly EV, which appears quite compact. See more below.

This week on Electrek's Wheel-E podcast, we discuss the most popular news stories from the world of electric bikes and other nontraditional electric vehicles. This time, that includes the launch of the Lectric XPeak 2.0 fat tire e-bike, Ride1Up's Prodigy XC eMTB on super sale, a roundup of great e-biking gear, cheaper Zero motorcycles inbound, Husqvarna's newest e-moto launch, Yadea shows off its scooters at EICMA, and more.

As one of the few people who can claim to now be in my third decade of living an electric bike-focused life, I've tested a lot of gear over the years. Between the gear I buy for myself and the piles of random stuff that shows up on my doorstep from overzealous PR agencies, I've gone through a wide range of tools, locks, clothing, accessories, and more. Here are my favorites of all the stuff I've tested this year.

In a world where every new e-bike launch seems to be bigger and more powerful than the last, there's a certain comfort to feeling something nice and small between your legs again. I'm talking, of course, about the JackRabbit OG2 micro e-bike. It's the latest update to JackRabbit's original (literally OG) tiny format electric two-wheeler, and by God, it's better than ever!

Contact us for free full report

Web: <https://www.hollanddutch tours.nl/contact-us/>

Email: energystorage2000@gmail.com

WhatsApp: 8613816583346

