

Industrial microgrids libreville

GSEZ Nkok: Launched in 2010, the Nkok Special Economic Zone (SEZ) is a multi-sectoral industrial park located 27 km from Libreville. On 1126 ha, it includes an industrial zone, a commercial zone and a residential zone. The SEZ brings together 144 companies from 16 countries operating in 22 industrial sectors, including a cluster dedicated to wood processing which brings together 84 companies. GSEZ is a PPP between ARISE IIP and the government of Gabon.

GSEZ Ikolo: The Gabon Special Economic Zone (GSEZ) Ikolo ZIS is a joint venture, signed in June 2021, between the GSEZ and the government of Gabon. With a developed area of 318 ha and a preserved green area of 522 ha, the zone's infrastructure is rapidly evolving. Owing to its single window clearance system, national and international investors can set up businesses with ease. The zone's composition includes industrial, infrastructural, and residential spaces, along with multiple quays.

The Ikolo Special Economic Zone benefits from its strategic location, accessible by both land and river, and its proximity to the forests of the region and neighboring provinces. Presently, Greenply, Kengi Timber Manufacturing, Acewood and Gabon Sustainable Wood are the key operational units in the zone, recruiting over 100 employees. The zone will create 750 jobs by the end of 2022 and is expected to export between 150 and 200 containers of processed wood per month, generating added value to Gabon's economy.

GSEZ Mpassa Lebombi: Created in May 2022, the Mpassa Lebombi Special Investment Zone is an industrial zone specializing in wood transformation. With a total area of 1432.5 ha, the zone includes a cluster dedicated to wood processing and eucalyptus plantations. By mid-2023, the zone will provide around 850 direct jobs and hundreds of indirect jobs through the various service providers operating in and around the area. In the zone, Jaguar Wood Products is a key operational unit specializing in saw-mill production.

Covering 1 126 ha, GSEZ is an integrated multi-sector economic zone, with primary focus in timber sector. The SEZ offers a comprehensive set of services to hosted companies.
