

Industry and market trends st george

Industry and market trends st george

Data extracted on: November 20, 2024. Source: U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. Note: More data series, including additional geographic areas, are available through the "Databases & Tables" tab at the top of this page.

ST. GEORGE, UT - The St. George Area Chamber of Commerce (SGACC) announces the launch of a new local business and economic dashboard that provides business, community and government leaders with critical, real-time economic data. The SGACC partnered with eIMPACT, which works with Emsi, a labor market data company Industries by Place in Utah. There are 326 places in Utah. This section compares St. George to the 50 most populous places in Utah and to those entities that contain or substantially overlap with St. George. The least populous of the compared places has a population of 11,639. Agriculture.

Over the last five years, the St. George metro area has seen its population grow by more than 20%, its number of businesses grow by more than 30% and its annual gross domestic product increase...

An industry describe the kind of business conducted by a person's employing organization. On this page, all employed persons are categorized as working in one of the following industries (bolded terms are used in the charts and maps on this page):

St. George and Southern Utah real estate market statistics, like anything else are more than just numbers, figures and mathematical calculations. These charts and graphs are a useful tool when evaluating our Southern Utah real estate market and trends. Please keep in mind the information on this page can be interpreted in many ways. Part of my service and commitment to you is to help to put all this statistical information into a perspective that empowers you to make your St. George and Southern Utah real estate choices with knowledge.

This information is another valuable tool in understanding just what makes our Washington County Utah real estate market tick. I have access to and can send more statistical information on our Southern Utah real estate market and St. George real estate trends. These numbers change constantly so visit this page often.

One critical point that just these numbers alone don't expose is what market are we in? Buyers or sellers? Important to know whether you are buying or selling your Southern Utah real estate, especially critical to maximize your buying or selling power. We are in a highly competitive real estate market and it is absolutely critical that you have the tools necessary to maximize your potential.

The St. George real estate and the Southern Utah real estate market has been in the five to eight months of inventory for the year so far. On the surface after looking at the numbers alone you would think we in a buyer's market, yes, 8 or more month's available real estate inventory is a buyer's market. The reality is no one wants approximately 80% of that inventory! And we have dipped down in our absorption rate late in 2015. Take a look at my Market Trends Page!

Industry and market trends st george

So now we have roughly 20% of the available inventory in St. George in great condition and or priced correctly. You are now faced with a seller's market, a strange one but still a seller's market. We are at a 2 to 3 month available inventory and that constitutes a seller's real estate market. Zero to four months of inventory is a seller's market.

Call me anytime with all your St. George and Southern Utah real estate questions. My experience and expertise cost you nothing, in fact all my experience and the tools this website provide will save you money and time. Please interview me for the job of buying or selling your Southern Utah real estate. I look forward to putting myself and my team of professionals to work for you.

Contact us for free full report

Web: <https://www.hollanddutchtours.nl/contact-us/>

Email: energystorage2000@gmail.com

WhatsApp: 8613816583346

