From mail sorting technology to helping build the UK's first commercial spaceport, our innovations and partnerships have long contributed to the UK's defence, security and prosperity.

And while the F-35 Lightning II is currently providing game changing, 5th generation capability to the UK Armed Forces, our legacy was forged decades ago as RAF pilots took to the skies in the Lockheed Hudson and Martin Marauder.

We are a diverse and inclusive organisation offering exciting careers for apprentices, interns, graduates and experienced professionals alike, and we are proud to employ approximately 1,700 people at more than 20 sites across the country.

Volunteering is part of our DNA, whether this is through the outreach opportunities we provide to staff or the inspiring work of our employees volunteering for organisations close to their hearts on top of their day jobs. In 2019, 7,084 employees across the corporation worldwide volunteered, totalling an incredible 500,000 hours.

We believe that our future success and ability to engineer a better tomorrow depends on a constant supply of highly trained, highly capable technical talent. Our partnerships in STEM education in the UK help us inspire the next generation of engineers, technicians and even astronauts.

Overall responsibility for Lockheed Martin UK is held by the Board of LMUK Holdings Ltd, members pictured adjacent, with day to day activities the responsibility of a senior leadership team.

Lockheed Martin Corporation has operated in the UK for nearly 80 years. Headquartered in London, we employ approximately 1,700 people at more than 20 sites across the country. From mail sorting technology to helping build the UK's first commercial spaceport, our innovations and partnerships help solve some of the world's most complex challenges, contributing to the UK's defence, security and prosperity.

The people of Lockheed Martin are critical to our success as a business and our customers rely on their skills, knowledge and passion to deliver, time and time again. A career with Lockheed Martin not only means a competitive salary and benefits package, but also includes inspiring career development opportunities, a real commitment to work/life balance and a working environment that truly supports your ability to excel.

Lockheed Martin UK Limited (LMUK) is a wholly owned subsidiary of Lockheed Martin, headquartered in London. The company was created on 1 July 1999, combining all of Lockheed Martin's UK operations into one company.
