

Pictures of london landmarks

Pictures of london landmarks

All of our lives we've seen references to famous London Landmarks. Top London attractions have been featured in movies and TV shows, magazines, and even in sporting events and commercials.

When we had the chance to visit London, we were excited to explore all of the iconic landmarks and attractions that London had to offer. There is so much to see and do in London and the entire United Kingdom it takes many trips to see it all! When you go to London next, be sure to put all of these famous landmarks of London onto your list!

London England is a city that we've always wanted to visit and when we finally got the chance, we didn't waste any time. We toured all the famous place that we had seen in the movies and read about through history. It was exciting and these landmarks in London definitely lived up to the hype. You may also want to check out Amazing Places to Visit in the UK for more great things to see and do.

The Palace of Westminster is where Britain's The Houses of Parliament are located on the River Thames. You can see Big Ben standing above the building that dates back to 1860. Read more: How to Visit The Palace of Westminster and the Houses of Parliament in London

Everyone associates Big Ben with London. Big Ben is located at the houses of Parliament. You can't miss it. The Clock Tower stands tall over the Parliament buildings containing a giant bell that weighs 13 tons!

The Tower of London is another historic landmark in London. Throughout the centuries it was an infamous destination where many a royal awaited their fate. Famous prisoners included Anne Boleyn, Guy Fawkes, Lady Jane Grey and Rudolph Hess, Hitler's second in command.

Buckingham Palace is the official residence of the Royal Family. When we visited London, we stood among the crowd waiting for the changing of the guard. It was fun to see and a must for first time visitors to London. Read about another Royal Residence: How to Visit Windsor Castle

Westminster Abbey is one of the most famous churches in the world and is definitely at the top of London's famous landmarks. We all know it from the famous royal weddings that have taken place here. Most recently Prince William and Kate.

It's a fantastic place to hang out and meet up with friends. Trafalgar Square has been used for protests and demonstrations throughout history. It is also where Londoners celebrate ringing in the New Year just like New York's Times Square. Check out Things to do in Times Square & A Walking Tour and Nearby Attractions

Pictures of london landmarks

Having gone to college or Music Theatre, I always heard my professors reference productions at the famous Globe Theatre of London. This cultural landmark dates back to 1599 when Shakespeare's theatre company built the original building. A replica of the 16th-century Globe Theatre was built a mere 750 feet from the original site.

It's funny to think that a Ferris wheel has become the landmark that is most synonymous with London, but that is the first thing that comes to my mind when picturing London. It is so popular, that many cities around the world have designed waterfronts around Ferris Wheels of their own.

One of the most modern London symbols is the Shard. The 95-story glass skyscraper was completed in 2012 and towers above London. We've come a long way since 1710 when St Paul's Cathedral was the tallest building in London.

Contact us for free full report

Web: <https://www.hollanddutchtours.nl/contact-us/>

Email: energystorage2000@gmail.com

WhatsApp: 8613816583346

