

Reykjavik environmental sustainability

Reykjavik environmental sustainability

Here is your sustainable and eco-friendly travel guide to Reykjavik. The beautiful images of Iceland are not just glamorised Instagram moments. There is something truly unique and beautiful about nature in Iceland. The air feels clearer and fresher. And the water tastes better - straight from the tap!

It's the land of renewable energy. Iceland strives to be a global leader in sustainability and wants to maintain a stance on responsible tourism. Join the movement and travel green here while enjoying sustainable tourism. The capital city of Reykjavik is trailblazing, prioritising green industry, low-carbon transportation, using sustainable energy and fostering eco-friendly tourism.

Let us be your tour guide - read on for a Reykjavik travel itinerary geared towards eco-friendly tourism and green travellers! Trust that there are many green things to do in Reykjavik - take a look and see!

Elding is the original whale tour operator in Reykjavik and offers Iceland's most talked-about sea adventure tours. With two decades of experience, we operate sea adventures from Reykjavik and Akureyri year-round. Their expertise and knowledge allow Elding to offer a truly unique experience. Elding follows IceWhale's code of conduct for responsible whale watching and our stricter guidelines. Elding works diligently to implement an environmental policy to make it as efficient as possible.

Eyja Guldsmeden is a hotel that puts considerable emphasis on offering local and organic food products and being environmentally responsible. It's a small yet unique hotel in Reykjavik with very personal service and an intimate space offering a laid-back atmosphere. Sustainability is the hotel's guiding principle. The utmost importance to Eyja Guldsmeden is ensuring their guests have a pleasant and memorable stay. Eyja Guldsmeden Hotel has a Green Globe Certification that is a testament to their dedication to the eco-conscious and eco-friendly spirit and action.

You have options for getting around that leave a minimal carbon footprint. There are numerous options for electric scooters. Companies like Hopp, Zolo and Wind have popped up in recent years, with easy access by way of Smartphone apps, so chances are you'll never be stranded. If the weather gets nasty (as it often does!), you can use Reykjavik's bus system, Straet, to get around. And also, of course, you can always get around on foot!

What better place to begin a green holiday in Reykjavik than Laugardalur! Laugardalur offers tourists and locals alike a pastoral setting to soak in the ambience of vivacious Reykjavik. Enjoy the Family Park and zoo, the Botanical Gardens, lovely scenery, and a delightful breakfast in Cafe Flora. This idyllic cafe is nestled in a charming greenhouse. It offers diners wholesome meals that use local ingredients - some grown in the gardens surrounding you! If you're lucky enough to be around on the weekend, tuck into a delicious brunch!

Contact us for free full report

Web: <https://www.hollanddutchtours.nl/contact-us/>

Email: energystorage2000@gmail.com

WhatsApp: 8613816583346

